in care

Abbeyfield Ballachulish Society Ltd. is an independent local charity providing a wide range of care services. The society is overseen by a board of voluntary trustees, recruited from the local area and managed by a dedicated team.

Abbeyfield is known for its exceptional standards of care.

Standards that are evident in every aspect of the services it provides.

Our clients, families, and wider communities are stakeholders in the running of the charity, with regular communication and meetings, giving all the chance to get involved, comment on how we are doing, and offer suggestions on improvement.

Our highly trained team brings compassion to every aspect of their work. The team delivers person centred and specialist care to individuals, ensuring a feeling of safety, security, and a sense of belonging.

“A dedicated team providing top class care, who embrace training at every level. Highly recommended.”
